

GAME T TIME

Columbia University and C. A. C.
Will Meet on Thanksgiving.

VARSITY'S PRIVATE WORK

Final Line-up of the Team Will Be Made at Capitol Park This Afternoon—This Game Will Not Be for the Championship of the District. Probable Make-up of the Teams.

Now that the question as to who will play the Thanksgiving Day football game with the Columbia Athletic Club has been finally decided by their acceptance of the challenge sent them by the Columbia University eleven, the interest of the local devotees of the gridiron had been worked up to a high pitch.

The championship team of the Columbia has been made up since the beginning of the season, and while they have only played one game to speak of, that being with the Baltimore City Athletic Club, those interested in the game have never been able to get some kind of a line on them.

With the Varsity team it is just the opposite. They have not been organized long, and have not once appeared in public. The only time that they have even practiced with a team outside of their own college was when they met the Oriens one afternoon last week for a practice game. Then the latter team walked right through them and made a couple of touchdowns in the first five minutes play.

Practicing in private. True, the Varsity team was not out in its full force, most of its best men being absent and several others, including Capt. Cockrell, standing on the side and watching the play. Their practice since then has all been in secret. They may have an eleven of world-beaters on the other hand, they may go down before the fierce rushes of the C. A. C. men like reeds.

Notwithstanding the statements to the contrary, this game will not be for the championship of the District. In the first place, it would be a risk of injury to the players, and in the second place, the Columbia's eleven is probably the strongest in the city with the exception of that of the C. A. C. Their relative merits can only be decided on the field of the gridiron.

The Oriens easily defeated the strong eleven of the Gallaudet College, while the Oriens were only able to hold them down after a hard and bitter struggle. The only drawback that confronts the Columbia's is that they do not belong to any regular club, and consequently do not demand the recognition that either the Oriens or the Potomacs do.

FINAL LINE-UP WILL BE MADE. The Varsity eleven will meet in private practice at Capitol Park this afternoon for their last practice game. Reese Lewis, the coach of the team, and Ewing Cockrell, the captain, will then select the final line-up of the team. It has been suggested that a working out process since its organization that has not done it any good so far as the team work is concerned.

Needless to say the men cannot put up a strong game until the line is definitely settled, and the team has reached a point where they work in perfect harmony. Notwithstanding this drawback, the team will not meet in practice again before the game with the C. A. C. but will practice the signals at the college.

The line-up of the Columbia will be the same as it was when they met the Hampton Athletic Club on Saturday last. The substitution of "Cotton" Clarke as captain, in the place of Stewart Johnson, was a good move on the part of the management of the team. Clarke is not only a much better player than Johnson, but he has a better head, and can manage the line to more advantage.

The line-up has not yet been definitely decided, but from present indications will be as follows:

C. A. C. Pos. Columbia. Pos.
T. A. C. Pos. Columbia. Pos.
D. McCoullie, C. E. Hicks, J. E. B. B. McCoullie, C. E. Hicks, J. E. B.

Each team has met with but one defeat this season—the Potomacs losing to the Gallaudet's strong aggregation by a close score, and the Oriens falling before the Baltimore Athletic Club in Baltimore last Saturday, when they lined up before the selected team which is to play on Thanksgiving.

Both teams have been materially strengthened by the addition of some of Washington's best football talent. In the former game between these two teams neither was able to score, surprising their many friends by the splendid exhibition of good clean football which they put up.

It has been decided to call the game a draw, but each team is enabled every one to enjoy their Thanksgiving dinner.

NEGROES SEEKING OFFICE. Colored Voters' Organization Causing Excitement Among the Leaders.

Chesler, Pa., Nov. 25.—The general feeling of unrest that has developed among the colored voters of this county is causing the leaders of the colored movement to be very active in their efforts to organize into clubs, both in the county and city, and so far they have been able to keep the object of their organization a secret from the white leaders and it is only from the tone of the resolutions they are passing that the white leaders can get their intended movement can be learned.

One thing that was sprung last week tends to the belief that there are organizing for political purposes and intend to take care of themselves at the coming mayoralty election, as well as at the county primaries.

Samuel Redding, one of their brightest members, has been spoken of as a candidate for the school board. It is intimated that unless Mr. Redding is elected by the colored voters, he will be troubled at the city primaries. Francis E. Lawrence has announced himself as a candidate for delegate to the State convention. He says he has the colored organizations of the county back of him. All these notices denote that there is to be trouble, for neither of the people named will be given the offices they are after.

NOTRE DAME ALUMNAE. Interesting Meeting at Which Several Papers Were Read.

The alumnae of the Notre Dame held a large meeting in the convent hall last evening at 8 o'clock. Rev. Cornelius Gillespie, pastor of St. Aloysius' Church, presided. A musical program was presented, containing two papers of unusual merit.

One was on the Augustine literature and was read by Miss McGowan. The other was on the Roman architecture and was presented in the famous words of the great emperor, "I found Rome of brick and I left it of marble." This paper was prepared by Mrs. M. P. Tally and read by Miss Dowden.

A discussion on Hamlet was very entertaining, and in this connection it was urged that the Alumnae should have a course of Shakespeare lectures to be given by prominent Washington scholars.

A resolution to found a circulating library was also considered and will receive a vote at the next meeting. Among those present were Mrs. Connelley, Miss Tally, Miss Kate Lackey, Miss Dowden, Miss McGowan, Miss May Walsh and the Misses O'Neill.

Fined for Aiding in Smuggling. Philadelphia, Nov. 25.—Mrs. Peterson, stewardess of the American Line steamer Pennland, who was arrested on the charge of aiding Miss Cecilia O'Brien, a fashionable dressmaker of Philadelphia, in smuggling valuable goods into the United States, yesterday pleaded guilty in the United States district court and was fined $300. Miss O'Brien recently pleaded guilty to the same charge and was fined a similar amount.

Overcoats

AND ULSTERS

You want them this weather. We have a particularly fine line of Overcoats—Kerseys, Meltons, Chinchillas, Beavers, etc., at $10, $12 and $15, and up.

These coats have the finest tailor work in them, and are made to fit—they are not like the sloppy coats that do not give entire satisfaction for your money back. We want to please.

Ulsters we have in Chinchillas, Kerseys and Meltons with large collars, some velvet—the coats come right down to the boots. From $10.00 to $15.00. You would pay half as much again at a tailor's and not get so well suited.

Our Suits $12.50 and $15.00 are impossible to duplicate at the price.

THE CHILDREN'S SALE of Suits and Overcoats still continues at 5 per cent above the actual cost price.

NATURAL WOOL UNDERWEAR gray, plain or ribbed or in blue ribbed is a strong item. You cannot get the same quality anywhere else for less than $1.50.

Our price is $1.25.

GLOVES genuine kid—try them on at our risk, we have perfect confidence in them $1.00.

COLORED BOSOM SHIRTS with detached Cuffs—an excellent quality of Shirt $1.00.

THANKSGIVING ROAD RACE

Twenty-Mile Run Will Be Held Over the Conduit Course.

Entries Closed This Morning With Forty-two Names on the List. Many Prizes Donated.

When the entries for the twenty-mile road race, which will be run over the Conduit road on Thanksgiving Day, closed this morning Mr. McArthur, the promoter of the race, had received no less than forty-two names. This list contained the names of some of the most prominent local riders, many of whom being those who participated in the races of the Washington Road Club and the Dupont Cycle Club.

Those in charge of the race have decided to have it started at 11 o'clock in the morning, instead of in the afternoon, as was at first intended. This will give the people who attend as well as those who take part in the event a chance to take in some of the football games that will be in the afternoon.

The judges for the event have been chosen, and are as follows: G. E. Boyd, E. W. W. Jones, H. S. Jones. The times will be set by J. L. Lumbard, W. L. Lumbard and John W. W. Jones. The race will be given by J. B. McGirr will act as referee and William Jones as starter and handicapper.

The list of entries is given in full as follows: H. Z. Greer, G. S. Ball, R. G. Grimes, E. F. Anderson, Charles Melton, Charles Byrnes, William O. Woodward, J. M. Garrison, George C. Smith, Harry K. Stocks, J. M. Mudd, Jr., Robert H. Stone, Clifford S. Bush, R. E. Wakefield, J. J. Fister, H. A. Ball, H. H. Rhodes, Jr., V. Gates, Eugene B. Bell, E. L. Walden, J. W. Reinhardt, F. S. Welch, Clarence S. Gately, J. E. Brachler, James E. Hauger, Jr., S. B. Martin, Harry C. Snyder, Andrew Talmadge, Hardy Pritchard, Charles J. Butler, George J. C. O'Connor, Francis W. Hart, B. T. Wren, W. L. Kennedy, John B. Roland, Wright Curtis, Jr., W. P. Vadeney, Fred W. Moore, T. L. Burton, W. H. L. Walcott and F. G. Thompson.

The handicaps for the events will be announced tomorrow afternoon. Mr. Jones has always given universal satisfaction in his handicapping, and there is no doubt that he will live up to his reputation in handling the list of names given him in this road race.

The first prize for the event will be a Sterling bicycle, which is given by the Sterling Cycle Company.

WILL NOT ABANDON RACING. L. A. W. Will Still Hold the Reins Over Wheel Meet.

New York, Nov. 25.—Chairman Gideon, of the racing board of the L. A. W., in discussing the possible abandonment of racing, said: "The L. A. W. will not control racing next year, no matter what shape it may be in. It is decided to have no more classes. If not, well and good again. In the latter event affairs will be seen as they were this season, class A, class B, and professionals."

"Things have come to such a state now that the L. A. W. has no more jurisdiction over professional riders as it has over class A or B, and so far their riding has been objectionable. If the men still remain still retain their present racing teams, the term class B will have to be used to designate the men who are not pure amateurs. One thing is certain, there was more racing done this year than ever before in the history of the League, and there is likely to be still more next year."

NOT CAUSING MUCH WORRY. Secession of Pennsylvania Clubs From A. A. U. Not Important.

New York, Nov. 25.—The story published yesterday regarding the secession of eight Western Pennsylvania clubs from the A. A. U., is not causing officials of the latter body much worry.

The clubs referred to held an indignation meeting on Sunday, and decided to form an independent association, to be christened at a meeting called for December 1. Their action is intended as a retaliation for the recent ruling of the A. A. U., which suspended all concerning the boxing and wrestling championships held at Allegheny, Pa., last March.

Free chickens at Johnston's Wednesday to all purchasers of a dollar's worth of overcoats.

Free Tomorrow, Free Thursday, Free Friday, Free Saturday.

Beginning tomorrow and continuing through this week we will present free to each and every purchaser of our Butterine a handsome Steel Engraving—the masterpiece of ROSA BONHEUR, that gifted artist. She is the acknowledged finest living painter in the world today. This steel reproduction of this celebrated artist's masterpiece is elegant in every particular: It is guaranteed a steel engraving of the highest quality. The offer is an extraordinary one. This steel engraving framed will look well alongside the finest painting or engraving you may have in your parlor. The subject is

PHARAOH'S HORSES.

The Why of It.

You may ask the question, How can they afford to do it? Well, we can't as far as dollars and cents are concerned. We will lose money at first—but we want everybody to try our Butterine. A great many of you are using it now. We have a record for holding customers after we sell to them once. We want to show you that Butterine is better than Butter. The Butter men are sore all over. They don't like to see us do business. They are jealous. You have been paying them exorbitant prices for their butters, and they naturally dislike to see their business get away from them—but the tide has turned in our favor, and no earthly power can change its direction. Every great reform has met with similar opposition—the complaints and criticism of those financially affected by its growth. They would knowingly sacrifice the interests of millions of poor people to benefit themselves.

Above all, we want you to have one of these beautiful steel engravings—and try our Butterine. If we sell you once that settles it—it's good-by to Butter—good by to rancidity.

Our Butterine Book.

We have just published a 16-page Butterine Booklet. We have already distributed 35,000 of them. We have one for you if you haven't got one yet. In the Booklet we have tried to give a thorough, terse talk on the subject of Butterine.

There is no question about Butterine being better than Butter. Nearly every one is of that opinion. It is merely a question of getting people to try it. The first minute that the finest pound of creamery butter is made it is as good as our Butterine, but the next minute it is not as good, and each succeeding minute it is less wholesome. If you only knew as much about our Butterine as we know it would be mighty hard for butter to find a market. We want the public to know all they can about our Butterine. Increased general knowledge on the subject means increased business for us.
